

The Pru Pratten Memorial Award for Sonographer Achievement

2010

Nominations close 9 April 2010

The recipient of this award is nominated by his or her peers for their... "special contribution to the field of medical ultrasound"

The Australian Sonographers Association instigated this award to formally recognise those sonographers amongst us who, by their personal efforts and desire for excellence, advance our profession. There is no other award like this in Australia and we are very proud of it. In 2003, this award was renamed to honour the late Pru Pratten, who made a significant contribution to the education of sonographers, particularly in the area of musculoskeletal sonography.

Do you know a sonographer who has made a special contribution to the field of medical ultrasound? Here is your opportunity to recognise this person by nominating them for the 2010 award.

- As nominator, you must be a member of the ASA.
- Nominations will only be accepted on the official nomination form (see overleaf) or photocopy.
- Group nominations on the one form will not be accepted.
- The nominee must be a sonographer, but does not have to be a member of the ASA.
- The winner will be announced and the award presented at the gala dinner at ASA2010 Melbourne.

A Selection Committee appointed by the ASA's Board of Directors will review all nominations and draw a short list. These nominees will then be contacted and asked if they are willing to support the nomination and accept the award if successful. The Selection Committee will then make their recommendation to the Board. The selection criteria is available for review by requesting a copy from the Membership Officer members@a-s-a.com.au.
